

Religious and Moral Education

Pentland's approach follows the guiding principles and aims of the council's policies on religious education and observation. Through our Religious and Moral Education programme, we aim for our pupils to realise that religion is an important expression of human experience. Our programme allows pupils to learn about religious, spiritual and moral issues relating to their own and other world religions.

The programme of work includes the study of Christianity and other world religions. We have in school, from time to time, assemblies where the focus of work may be a celebration or festival from one of these religions.

Brian Lowrie from MAD in schools, leads our assemblies on occasions during the year. The children have the opportunity to visit holy buildings of other world religions, such as Church, Mosque and Synagogue.
